IS CHANGE POSSIBLE?

Of recent times I have had conversations about attitudinal change. At times they have been about young people with whom others have been working and they have commented on the surly, non-communicative approach adopted by these young workers. At other times the conversation has been about mature age adults who present as any but mature despite their age. For these the attitude is I can act anyway I choose and you have to accept me and my attitude. Can people change?

As I said in one of these conversations I believed they could as encouraging people to do just that has been the focus of a great part of my life's work as a priest. Every time I preach in one way or another I encourage those listening to me to reflect on their lives, see the areas that need changing and do it. I see myself in good company in adopting this approach to life as it is definitely what lay at the heart of Jesus' mission. His keys words were: repent, the kingdom of God is close by. In other words, turn your life around and go in a new direction that will produce better outcomes than what you have been getting up till now. There is a great deal of truth in the old saying: "if you always do what you have always done, you will always get what you have always got." Not to dwell on misadventures that have befallen me playing golf, but at times getting oneself out of a bunker, you need to change clubs or you just dig a deeper hole and burden yourself with a higher score for that hole.

How did Jesus change people? Number one he was alert to those who showed interest in him. Recall the story of Zaccheus you will hear in the gospel today. We have a short tax collector. As a tax collector he was despised by many as almost a collaborator with the occupying Roman forces. As a small man he had probably been picked on by some with whom he grew up in Jericho, a town near the Dead Sea. When he became a tax collector and the power that came with the position did he settle a few old scores with former tormentors? We don't know but he was keen to see Jesus and put personal dignity to one side to climb a tree to get a better view.

Number two in Jesus' approach to encouraging change is to arrange to spend time with them. Probably Jesus sees him, asks who he is and on being told invites him to come down and welcome Jesus as a guest.

Number three in the attitudinal change approach used by Jesus is acceptance. Jesus accepts Zaccheus where he is. Zaccheus feels that acceptance and sees a door open to choose a new way to engage with people, with God and with himself. He embraces this change in very practical ways by offering compensation to those he cheated.

As disciples Jesus still walks our world and invites us to change but also to be the ones to issue invitations to others to change. All of us can produce great goodness if we but let ourselves be touched deeply by God's tenderness and touch others in the same way.

The Christmas 2013 edition of Australian Catholics magazine explores what it means when Jesus asks us to 'love our neighbour'. It is easy to see how this applies to those who are already close to us, but it's different matter for us to find a place in our hearts for those we don't know well, especially those who have different beliefs, language or skin colour. Take a copy home today.

MERCY AGED CARE SERVICES

Have you ever thought about Volunteering? Could you spare about 1/2 an hour a week to give a listening ear or a helping hand to an older person? Mercy Aged Care Services is seeking volunteers to help ease the loneliness and isolation felt by so many elderly people in care. Our aged care facilities are based at:

Nudgee (Emmaus and Allambe) and at Wooloowin (Holy Cross). Volunteers are involved in various work throughout our facilities. Some are involved in reading to residents; taking residents for walks or simply having a conversation.

The greatest gift you can give is your time.

If you are interested in being a volunteer at Mercy Aged Care please contact reception between 9am and 3pm week days on 3260 9555 or email admin@mercyagedcare.org.au. We conduct a Volunteer Induction Programme (consisting of 4 sessions) to introduce prospective volunteers to the role. Applications close 17 January 2014 and the next Volunteer Programme will commence in February 2014.
