*Jesus said to his disciples:
"You are the salt of the earth.
You are the light of the world."*

Dear Friends,

The name "Agatha" means "the good and kind one". St. Agatha is the patron saint of breast cancer patients, martyrs, nurses, bell-makers and bell-ringers, bakers, jewellers and protectress against fire and earthquakes. As they would say in politics, St. Agatha has a vast portfolio. On Friday, we shared in a spirited and joyous celebration for St. Agatha's feast day. Over 150 people gathered for breakfast, followed by a thought-provoking presentation by Erin Heath, and then onto a joyful celebration in our church for Mass. This was an event that came together very quickly, and I would like to thank and congratulate Jane Cameron and Rosemary Greer from our parish office, Erin Bledsoe as Chair of the Community and Mission Council and Julie Kordic as President of the P&F for their energy and generosity in organising the morning. I would also like to extend my gratitude to Susan McDonald from Super Butcher, Eagle Farm for donating the breakfast eats and to Erin Heath and Tricia Steffen for donating gifts in the raffle. Thanks also to Carol Sayers and the school community for their help and co-operation. And a big thank you to all who attended and raised money for "Mummy's Wish". Given the wonderful community spirit that we experienced on Friday, my hope is that this will become an annual event to celebrate St. Agatha's feast day. To commemorate the feast day, we have some prayer cards available (this weekend the prayer cards are free! But only one please - after this weekend they will be available for purchase from our piety stall). The prayer accompanying the cards holds before God all who are sick and those who care for them. We will say this prayer at each of our Masses this weekend:

God of all strength and hope, St. Agatha, Your daughter, endured the pains of anguish and suffering. May her steadfast virtue comfort those who face the anxiety of illness and bear the distress of sickness. Give them strength to overcome every difficulty and disappointment, surround them with the tenderness of family and friends, and support them through the companionship of those who care for them. Healer of our every ill, renew us in Your Love and restore us to life. Amen. St. Agatha, pray for us.

Fr. Anthony

The Wisdom of Pope Francis

Sometimes I think the best thing that we can do for many Christians is to sell them mothballs so that they put them in their clothes and in their lives, so that they aren't eaten by moths. Many Christians are locked up, and they are going to get eaten by moths. They have to go out, they have to go and bring the message of Jesus to others; the Good News is meant to be shared, not stored away.

Clayfield Conversations

Archbishop Mark Coleridge has prepared a message for the Archdiocese this weekend which is timed to coincide the commencement of the final 3 weeks of hearings into the Catholic Church at the Royal Commission into Institutional Responses to Child Sexual Abuse. The Catholic Church will be in the spotlight for the entire three weeks. The Archbishop has recorded a video message which will be shown at all Masses this weekend (with text below) in anticipation of what will be a confronting reflection on a part of our church history, but also significantly a moment for the victims voices to again be heard and for relevant questions to be asked about ensuring the future protection of children.

Address By Archbishop Mark Coleridge

By now the Royal Commission into the institutional abuse of the young is into its fourth year. It's been a long and agonising but very important journey for the Church and for many others as well. On Monday the 6th of February, the final hearing into the Catholic Church will begin and it will go for about three weeks. It seems I will appear a number of times through that final hearing. In those weeks, the Royal Commission will try to do two things:

- It will ask the question, first of all, what has the Church learnt from the experience of the Royal Commission? What have we done on the basis of what we've learnt and what will we do in the future? That's a very important question.
- Secondly, the Royal Commission will ask what were the cultural factors that led to the abuse in the Church and to the mishandling of the abuse by Church leaders? That, too, is a very important question because it's not enough to change procedures and protocols. That has to happen.

But we have to shift the culture. And that's a much more difficult thing to do. So, that's why that second question – what were the cultural factors – is again a very important one.

Through these three weeks there will be some grim moments and there will be some shocks, inevitably. But there will also be a chance to tell a better story of what has been done and what is being done now and what will be done in the future to ensure that the future is very much better than the past. We say this is the final hearing into the Catholic Church but, in fact, there will be a story to be told beyond the final hearing. The Commission will present its report at the end of the year and that will be important.

But it will also have a long tail. The journey will continue long after the final report has been published. So, I invite all of you to join me on the journey through the three weeks of this final hearing and the journey that stretches before us beyond that, so that together we can do everything possible to ensure a better future for the Church; a better future particularly for young people; and even more particularly for those who have survived abuse. That justice and healing may be done to them. So, a better future for them and for the whole of society as well.
